AYRSHIRE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Hospitality & Tourism Award Finalist

Being recognised as a finalist—five years after this began as a vision—is an extraordinary milestone.

The journey to repurpose this magnificent heritage building, while respecting Ayrshire's conservation heritage, has been long and demanding.

We have stayed true to the vision and shown the resilience to see it through.

This recognition makes the next chapter feel possible: helping Wellington House reach its full potential.

Ayr’s best-kept secret

A restored Georgian mansion where period grandeur meets relaxed, modern hospitality.

Set within prestigious Wellington Square, the end-terraced mansion combines glamour and decadence with the character of another era.

Owned by Sharon Welsh, Wellington House began as a vision: to rescue a semi-derelict, structurally unsafe property and restore it lovingly to its period grandeur.

Today, the imposing double-pillared façade once again stands proud above the square’s gardens.

Inside, curated artefacts, modern art and period splendour create an effortless backdrop for private celebrations and corporate occasions.

One thing is certain, Wellington House has a unique charm - attracting young and old alike – allowing everyone to step back into days gone by with a dash of fun and quirkiness!

WH has a unique history dating back to WW1 when it played host to 19 young officers sent over from USA to train to be pilots in our local airfields and continues to allow us to strengthen bonds with the military / Prestwick Airport / The Air Sow and local historians.

We have been pleasantly surprised to gain bookings for weddings from Glasgow and London with people saying 'there's nothing quite like this' – our Santa's Grotto has now gained popularity and reputation from those outwith our local area too.

We have plans to bring new acts and activities to Ayrshire – usually only available in Glasgow or Edinburgh allowing everyone to enjoy them locally.

Talks are in place with distilleries to allow them to offer private dining for clients – history walks with drinks and canapes - golf tourists who want somewhere nice to eat and relax – allowing those to stay within Ayrshire and for us to offer Scottish evenings and Burns events we can be proud of.

Our Sustainability Journey

Almost all the furniture has been upcycled giving it that lived in and vintage look.

Internal fittings such as fireplaces, door handles, light fittings are all period finds – beautifully incorporated by craftsmen to ensure authenticity for the building.

Decorative items throughout the building have been sourced locally to create a lived in vibe – our lawyers books came from Wishaw as a company closed…

For our weddings – we offer all the main items in the house to avoid clients having to purchase items eg table decorations/ glass hurricane vases/easels – all to avoid the need for repurchase of items for the one day.

Confetti is also requested to be biodegradable

All food is preordered to avoid food waste.

We utilise glass bottles and cans to allow recycling.

We do not use any single use items.

No words can describe what it feels like to be recognised as a finalist in this category!

Something that started as a vision in someone's head, taking 5 years to fulfil through hard work and perseverance finally being recognised for their achievement against all the odds is amazing!…

I am eternally grateful for this recognition by The Chamber of Commerce …..

The journey to repurpose and bring this magnificent heritage building back to life whilst paying homage to Ayr's conservation, has been an immensely long & difficult journey.

The past 5 years have not been easy …. Renovating a building – going into hospitality is not for the feint hearted but has taught me that staying true to your vision and to your dream is possible if you want something with enough passion to have the resilience to see it through.

Having what I have been through I now feel that anything is now possible with regards to taking Wellington House forward to reach its full potential !

As was said before….. Watch this space!
